

The Hand Book

By David Whitney

THE HAND BOOK
BY DAVID WHITNEY
WWW.BILLYBOGGLESWORTH.COM

Copyright 2010 David Whitney

Just so that everyone here understands
This is a book all about hands

Hands in my pockets
Hands in the sink

Hands can get dirty

Hands help you drink

Big Hands
Small Hands

Short Hands
Tall Hands

Hands that can write
Hands that can fight

Hands that point the way

Hands that tell you to stay

Hands that wear rings
Hands that wear things

Hands that like gloves
Hands that like doves

Which is your left hand?
It's easy to tell Stick out your thumb and it looks like an "L"

Hands can make shadows up on a wall

Hands can be helpful
when bouncing a ball

I once saw a hand just as big as a whale
That escaped the parade and started to sail

This man used his hand to whistle real loud
To get the attention of the whole crowd

How many hands does it take to make pie?
Two are enough, I wouldn't lie

The twenty four arms of Mister McDennis
Had two dozen hands to help him play tennis

It helps to have hands to play in the band
But if you're a singer then you can just stand

Most hands have knuckles and hands can make signs Hands can have wrinkles
and some hands have lines

Some hands are skinny and some hands are fat
Dogs hands are called paws the same as a cat

Birds don't have hands

and neither do fishes

I used both my hands when washing the dishes

Hands can be warm
Hands can be cold

Hands can be young Hands can be old

Hands are just hands

and never are feet

Except for a monkey now isn't that neat?

The End

Copyright 2010 David Whitney
Bogglesworth Publishing
billybogglesworth.com

Book

The Hand

